Loyola College Athletic Director Ed Enos will address the annual general meeting of the Lake St. Louis Region of the QNHA, to be held on Saturday, May 8, at St. Téléphone School, 8825 Central Street, Lasalle. The meeting is open to the general public.

Enos, soon to receive his doctorate from Boston University for a dissertation on hockey, will be the keynote speaker at the 12 noon luncheon, and his topic will be "Educational Perspective of Minor Hockey."

The general meeting will go from 9 in the morning until 5 in the evening, and will wind up affairs for the season and elect new officers for the coming year. The Lake St. Louis Region encompasses teams from Verdun right to the West Island area, divided into categories from atom to juvenile inclusive.

Outgoing president Charles Heywood has set aside the morning session for a series of seminars on such topics as the psychological and motivational requisites of a minor hockey official, the teaching of skills, the instilling of sportsmanship, and the like. The afternoon session will be devoted to general business and the election of new officers.

A resident of Beaconsfield, Enos has two sons playing in the Lake St. Louis branch.
